The Advocate (Baton Rouge), The Courier (Houma), the Daily Comet (Thibodaux), the Tri-Parish Times & BusinessNews (Houma), the West Side Journal (Port Allen), and the Southwest Daily News earned Newspaper of the Year honors in their respective divisions at the 134th Annual Louisiana Press Association Convention in Biloxi, MS.

The designation for the Newspaper of the Year is based on the number of points earned in the Better Newspaper Editorial Competition and the Better Newspaper Advertising Competition for 2013 with awards being given in individual contests for first, second, and third places. The editorial contests range from news story writing to graphic design while the advertising entries were judged based on design, creativity and effectiveness. The Mississippi Press Association judged both competitions this year.

Seventy-two newspapers, publications, and college/university student newspapers submitted 3,289 entries.

Earning sweepstakes awards in the editorial competition were The Advocate (Baton Rouge), The Courier (Houma), the Daily Comet (Thibodaux), the Tri-Parish Times & BusinessNews (Houma), the West Side Journal (Port Allen), the Southwest Daily News, the Forum News (Shreveport), and the Central City News.

Earning sweepstakes awards in the advertising competition were The Advocate (Baton Rouge), The Courier (Houma), the Livingston Parish News (Denham Springs), the Tri-Parish Times & BusinessNews (Houma), the L'Observateur (LaPlace), The Plaquemines Gazette (Belle Chasse), Thrive Magazine (Lake Charles) and Central City News.

For the Freedom of Information Award this year, there was a tie, with two newspapers receiving the award.

The first is The Advocate of Baton Rouge. The newspaper filed a lawsuit against the LSU Board of Supervisors that ultimately forced the board to make public the applications it had received for the LSU president's post. That action came after months of legal wrangling and foot-dragging by the board. Each day for the more than three months the judge held the board in contempt, the Advocate published a short editorial to remind readers of that fact. The board finally relented after the judge threatened to arrest its chairman and cancel an LSU football game. As expected, that got the desired result.

The other first-place winner is the Central City News. For nearly four years, the small newspaper has raised important questions about what essentially amounts to the privatization of its local city government. Last year, a judge ordered CH2MHill, the company the City Council hired to run the city's administration, to release city documents it had claimed were private and belonged to the company. It made that claim despite a provision in both the state public records law and the company's contract with the city that says such documents must remain open to public review. Last year, a judge sided with the Central City News and ordered the company to release the records and pay the newspaper's legal bill, which surpassed $100,000. In one headline, the newspaper aptly describes it as a David vs. Goliath type victory. And in an interview with the newspaper, Central's current mayor pro-tem sums up the outcome this way: "This is an important decision that strengthens the public's right to know what their government is doing and prevents the politicians from hiding behind private companies."
